AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

Chapter 304 has revealed a whole host of people who have never understood who OFA works. Here are 10 misconceptions or questions that I've seen posted, so hopefully this helps anybody reading, either with your own misunderstanding or when arguing with somebody about OFA.

Mar 9, 2021 · 10:50 PM UTC

3 72 3 320

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

1. How was OFA even formed?

Yes, people actually ask this. The 1st user had the quirk to pass on quirks, and when given the Stockpiling quirk by AFO, the two fused to form OFA. I would also recommend rereading/re-watching

1 7 3 76

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

2. 'OFA Gets stronger each time its passed'

If this were the case it would be a massive difference between Gen 7 and 8 for seemingly no reason. It's a stockpiling quirk, it generates power over time. It had a lot of time to generate because All Might held the quirk for 40 years.

1 6 72

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

3. All Might must have had two quirks, what about his muscle form?

This was never a second quirk. In Chapter 1/Episode 2 he explains what it is. It's just anime logic, nothing to do with a quirk. Also further debunked by Chapter 304.

1 5 75

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

4. Deku was the chosen one with his extra quirks!

This was simply a result of Quirk Singularity and would have happened no matter who All Might picked. Could it have even happened to All Might had he held onto it? It is unknown. It was always going to happen though

1 8 1 71

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

5. Deku was destined to be the final OFA holder??

Again, no. This would have happened even if All Might picked Melissa Shield. It's not simply the fact that Deku is the MC, it's just that people with quirks can NO LONGER handle OFA.

1 6 76

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

6. One For All literally can not be transferred anymore?

Sorry to the movie haters (myself included), but Deku can still transfer it. The implication is that another transfer to a quirked person would kill them overtime, and quirkless people are becoming few and far between.

1 7 68

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

7. Why did the 1st say quirkless people have vanished?

Because the 20% figure contains older generations as well. Dekus generation and beyond will have significantly smaller portions of Quirkless people. They aren't literally extinct.

1 6 67

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

8. How is Deku going to survive 7 different quirks??

Deku does not have 7 different quirks. He has one, One For All. Those separate quirks combined with OFA before it was passed on to the next predecessors, similar to how the Stockpiling Quirk and Transfer Quirk fused into one.

1 6 71

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

9. Can't Deku hand off parts of OFA to others to help them?

Again, no. It's all one quirk. If Deku had the ability to give somebody Black Whip, it would also count as 2 quirks for them and kill them. It would also kill Deku cuz that would mean 7 individual quirks.

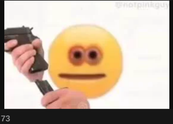
1 6 65

AsarathaHS @AsarathaHS 9 Mar 2021

10. Where is the vestige of the original holder of the stockpiling quirk?

stop asking questions

(i dont know the answer and i dont think anyone does)



2 7 73

Load more